Meeting this goal responsibly is at the heart of everything we do. Designed for moms who breastfeed. It is great for travel or as an occasional backup to your double electric pump. The small, portable, and lightweight design makes it easy to transport discreetly when you're away from your baby for a short time. It has been designed to deliver easy and convenient breast pumping at home, at work, or anywhere you travel. It includes a softtouch, ergonomic swivel handle that makes it easier to operate. This manual breast pump is infused with our patented and research-based 2Phase Expression Technology. Through research, Medela has learned that there are two distinct phases to how babies breastfeed. The stimulation phase is when babies first go to the breast, where they suck faster to start milk flowing. The expression phases occur after milk flow or "letdown" begins. During this phase, babies breastfeed with a slower suck rate to remove milk. The single vacuum adjustments are included for comfortable pump settings. What's Included: 1 Harmony manual pump; 1 24mm PersonalFit breastshield medium;

2 5 oz breastmilk bottles; 2 lids; 1 Travel cap; 1 Bottle stand; 1 Instructions; 1 Breastfeeding Information Guide. If you have any questions or an issue with your Medela pump, please contact Medela toll free at 18004358316 before reaching out to your place of purchase. <http://appfreshy.com/dell-optiplex-gx620-usff-manual.xml>

Please try again later. Beth Myers 2.0 out of 5 stars The first time I bought this, it seemed to lose suction after the first few pumps. I thought I was doing something wrong, because I could only get an ounce or so, and it took forever. But, I googled it and many moms had the same problem. Some suggested it was a flaw in this tiny rubber Oring that connects the pump. Mine looked a little ragged, so I emailed Amazon and they replaced it with a new one. I used the new one twice without any trouble and it was like night and day compared to the first one.<http://gabortech.com/admin/dell-optiplex-gx620-motherboard-service-manual.xml>

I got 5 ounces in No time. But, after only 3 uses, I was having the same problem as before. I took the pump off a dozen times and fiddled with the Oring. It will give me suction for 1 or 2 hand pumps, but thats it. What a huge disappointment!!! Im sending this back and buying a different product. When I got home, I slipped on the smaller one and it totally fixed the problem!! Dont buy Medelas replacement orings, they are crap. Works great now! See photos.Yeah right! This probably works best for women with a crazy supply who get 5 oz squirting our just with a few massages. That's not me. I had to pump like crazy for half an hour to get an oz. As a new mom with sore thumbs it was unnecessarily tedious. I think this would work in a pinch if you found yourself stranded without an electric once in awhile but as a regular pump it's not for me or women who struggle with supply in general.I am able to actually express my milk quicker with this pump then I am with any electric breast pump. Im able to empty both breasts within 15 to 20 minutes. And that is with pumping 4 to 5 ounces from each breast. I love the handle as it helps to keep my hands from cramping which is nice. I found that if you dont wash the handle which has the rubber ring on it then you really dont ever have an issue with needing to replace the Oring on it like some of the other reviewers have said. Ill just wipe the handle down with the baby wipes every once in a while.Instantly regretted it when I was so engorged and all I wanted to do was pump and had no pump. This is a lifesaver. Its small enough to throw in my diaper bag and it works great. I easily get 4 ounces every time I pump and it gets it out fast.Easy to clean and assemble. I love the two pump options for the letdown and full force pumping. I use it more than my electric pump now because I pump the other side when my baby nurses.

I used to leak around 2 ounces and would just hold a flange connected to a bottle to myself and my baby would occasionally kick and I would spill it all. This solved that problem too!! It has great suction for me and I love that I can easily hold it and pump with the swivel handle. Easy to clean and easy to use. Great investment and well worth the money to save my poor breasts from engorgement when my trips out are longer than I expected. You control the speed and force of pump and it seems to be a better pull of the nipple and areola. I think breastfeeding moms who were not getting results with electric pumps should give this a try. Your hands don't get as tired as you might think. Love it because you can pause and walk around. You're not stuck hooked up to the pump and to an outlet. Also refrigerate the whole thing and come back to it later. Easy to clean. I could go on and on! Sometimes I respond better to this than my Medela Pump in Style double electric pump. It is great for using at night for quick relief if the baby is sleeping longer than usual. For those that say it loses suction, if you look at the underside of the handle, there is a little yellow piece that you can see through the clear rubber. If that yellow piece is not in alignment, then it will lose suction. Simply remove the rubber, realign the yellow piece, and pop it back into place. Your suction will be back to brand new! It's very quiet which is a nice change from my 5 year old Avent manual pump. I also realized before ordering this that I needed much smaller breast shields which I had to purchase separately. They are still a little large for me as I have small nipples. The 21mm breast shields are the smallest this company offers. Medela has a guide to help gauge which size you need. This pump works best and yields the most milk after some decent manual massage of the breasts, but you could say that for any pump.

<https://congviendisan.vn/vi/3m-120a-manual>

I do have a Medela electric pump but I find it tedious and don't have the patience to sit still for as long as it takes to use it. The smaller breast shields I purchased separately work with that pump as well. I use this pump multiple times a day and I've found that the little tiny white ring on the handle part that others have mentioned having issues with is starting to show some wear so I may have to replace it at some point. Also the pump will lose suction if the diaphragm stem and suction piece aren't lined up properly which happens sometimes while pumping, but can be fixed quickly by taking the handle piece off and removing said parts to realign. Overall I'm happy with this pump. UPDATE I ended up purchasing a second one of these so I could have one clean and ready to go and then wash the parts together to save time. I also ordered the little white replacement rings to use as needed. Overall very happy! Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Quieter than others that I've tried, really easy to use. I would strongly recommend this product. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Requiere de mucho trabajo y tiempo y saca muy poco. No es nada práctico ni eficiente. Compre dos sacaleches manuales este y el Haka de silicona. La verdad es que el Haka es una maravilla, sumamente eficiente para sacar leche rápido, sin dolor, sin trabajo. Puedo hacer cosas con mis manos mientras y no es nada doloroso mientras que este resulto una pérdida de dinero, plástico y tiempo. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again I think the time it takes to pump with any pump is greatly dependent on the amount of milk being produced, not so much dependent on the type of breast pump. After reading reviews I was worried I might spend a lot of time pumping with this one because it is a manual not so. It takes me 510 min to fill a 5 oz bottle and I really like that I have control over the pressure and suction. It doesn't make my hand tired at all.

<http://elipsradiologiadigital.com/images/brand-identity-standards-manual.pdf>

I love that it doesn't have too many parts and it is easy to clean. I've been using with the pump and save bags, but I like to pump into the bottle first and then pour into the bag, because once I had to put it down before I was finished and it fell over and spilled all over the place. The bottle is more sturdy to set down on a table. Overall I am very satisfied with this product and it meets my needs well. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Lo único que no me gustó fue la tetina que trae incluida, es demasiado suave y si quieres usar los frascos en modo biberón como que se aplasta y hace vacío, fuera de ahí el aparato en sí es maravilloso, fácil de lavar, esterilizar. Muy muy buena compra. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again We tried everything, including reviewing YouTube videos and searching the internet on possible fixes. We also purchased replacement parts but nothing works. The suction is no longer strong enough. Very disappointed in the product. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Muy cómodo, ten en cuenta la talla del embudo para que no te lastime el pezón. Hay que comprar un esterilizador o estarlo esterilizando con agua hirviendo es lo único tedioso después de cada uso. Compra los tubos para almacenar leche junto con esto. Fácil de armar. Al principio es cansado el estar bombeando pero te acostumbras y tomas práctica. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again It comes with one regular slowflow nipple and 5oz bottle which is perfect for newborns. The latch is strong but you control it with your finger pressure. The two options of letdown and flow are needed as it mimics baby perfectly. This is great for anyone on the go and is small enough that you can toss it in your diaper bag or purse. Do yourself a favour and buy it. Even if you have the electric Medela pump Which I also recommend!!Sorry, we failed to record your vote.

Please try again La doble funcion de extraccion es lo mejor. Primero imita la estimulacion del bebe para comenzar luego la extraccion. No me causa dolor, y pese a ser manual es bastante rapido el proceso. Facil de usar y de lavar, muy practico de llevar a cualquier lugar. Viene con dos biberones y una base que te permite apoyarlo mientras tomas un descanso o necesitas tus manos libres por un momento. Muy recomendable como extractor manual.Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Trate de usar solo estas manuales por un par de semanas pero termine con calambres en las manos.Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again Como recomendacion hay que leer bien las instrucciones. El vastago no debe introducirse para esterilizarse ya que trae un pequeno empaque que es indispensable para el funcionamientoSorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again El precio es mayor al de otras marcas pero vale la pena, yo lo compre con descuento por introduccion. Recomendable para uso poco o moderado ya que si buscas hacer un banco de leche seria muy cansado usar este.Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again So i thought of switching to this hand pump. I have good experience with medela breast pump as with my elder daughter also i have used medela electric single breast pump with which i was satisfied. I would recommend this pump to those who just need pumping 23 times a day.Sorry, we failed to record your vote. I feel like manual pumping doesn't fully empty my breasts. Very easy to use and clean. I wouldn't suggest the pump to a friend though due to feeling like it doesn't work well. Loved everything that it came with but really let down that it stopped working so soon. I bought it because of other credible referrals so I expect to have just a great experience. The teat for the bottle was terrible, in my opinion. It's too long and Baby gets frustrated with it. I've given up on it completely, and merely use the bottle to pump milk which I pour into milk storage bags. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again You can pump everywhere because of its small size. Thanks to Medela for perfect product. Wife of account holder. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again It doesn't draw out as much milk but I love the convenience of a manual pump for nighttime expressing. It's much less disruptive and easier to clean and assemble. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again I have the swing which is a great electric pump but this manual pump is just as good. I used it when I left my baby for weddings and other occasions and it is so good. I tell any breastfeeding mum to get one!!! Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again I didn't think it would work.

My only complaint is that the small nipple cup is still too big so can be uncomfortable but nothing I can't handle. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Please try again This pump is easy to use and its great quality. I would definitely recommend. It's in a different league to the Tommee Tippee equivalent! Sorry, we failed to record your vote. Most mums will run into situations where they need to express milk for their own comfort. This pump is especially recommended for mums who travel for use either as a backup for a double electric pump or on its own if you are not a frequent pumper. Its smooth operation will pleasantly surprise you when you start pumping. This is a very lightweight pump that does not take up much room in a handbag. It is very simple to take apart and clean. The handle on the Medela Harmony manual breast pump has been designed to twist, so you can always get the best angle to pump the milk without having to move your arms into an uncomfortable position.

The lever has a nice, soft rubber cover that makes pumping a little easier on your hands and helps the pump operate quietly. The breast pump simulates the natural baby sucking behaviour at the mother's breast. Once milk starts to flow, you switch to the longer side of the handle which creates a slower sucking cycle to express the majority of your milk. It is small, lightweight and easy to transport. Set the Swing on a tabletop, attach it to your pocket or belt with. This is why Medela offers five sizes of PersonalFit breast shields to meet your personal. It is designed to not interfere with breastfeeding, to let your baby feed the way. The Harmony manual breast pump is what every mama that is pumping needs, whether for back up or regular use. Thanks to Stellar Product Testing Panel, I was able to try the Harmony breast pump and it has been a big game changer for me. This pump works better on the go for me than my battery-operated pump does and it is way less of a hassle. My family took a trip to Arizona and this pump was very handy and easy to pack. I did not have to worry about tubes being connected or my little one trying to grab at the tubes while I pump. The stand was more helpful than I thought it was going to be. I have knocked over a few freshly expressed breast milk bottles after pumping with my electric pump, which led to unnecessary frustration. The great thing about the stand is I can use it regardless if I'm using an electric pump or the Harmony manual breast pump. This pump effectively extracted my breast milk consistently. The suction on this pump is great on both pump settings. The letdown setting worked very well, surprisingly. I was not expecting the letdown setting to have as great of suction as it did for a manual pump. This pump was fairly easy and comfortable to use. The only uncomfortable part about using this manual pump is that my forearms, wrist and hand got fatigued in the middle of pumping. Manual pumping is a great way to build up some grip strength. This pump was fairly easy to clean and the great part about this pump is there are less parts to clean. Woo hoo! I definitely will use this pump with my next child as well. My very first hand pump was given to me by a hospital in which I delivered my first baby 3 and a half years ago. I absolutely loved it. I had an insane amount of milk and needed to pump often as I was working on decreasing my supply. I also was a working mom. So this pump was used in the office, on the air plane, airport, car, home. You name it. One thing kept breaking though. The handle that holds the silicone part that creates suction, somehow it kept ripping every few months. I tried other pumps and hated the way they felt. I actually bought like 5 pumps because it kept happening. Two months ago, I had my second baby. I got this pump again hoping I'll have better luck, two months later I'm once again in need of another pump. I love this pump so much but so frustrated!!!! I can't be buying a whole new pump every time. I think I'll try to get used to a different brand. I was lucky to receive one from Stellar right before a family trip. I only planned to be away from my baby one or two nights, so it was the perfect occasion to try out a manual pump.

The first time I had to pump, I started with the stimulation lever phase one. Similar to an electric pump, its supposed to cause a letdown. I rarely have letdowns and this wasnt getting me there any time soon, so I skipped ahead to phase two the milking. I was pleasantly surprised at how much milk this pump was able to take out with minimal effort on my part. It actually took about the same amount of time to fill a bottle as an electric pump. Weird, right I thought so. It was unexpectedly nice to be in control of the sucking speed. Sometimes my boobs need a break, and electric pumps dont really allow for that. But my favorite feature by far is the antispill bottleholder. With an older toddler tornado in the mix, a milk bottle stabilizer is genius. Peace out, spills! The whole kit was also super easy to clean. And I gotta say, not having to lug an electric pump in my suitcase felt epic. I didnt even have to worry about bribing the airport suitcase handlers to ignore my 51pound bag. When Stellar Product Testing Panel gave me the opportunity to try Medelas manual Harmony Breast Pump, I decided to give it a try. At first blush I was turned off by the number of parts and small size of each part see photo. There are six parts to the pump and a stand to hold the bottle and prevent spills. My first thought was that they would be very tedious to clean. But after the first wash, sanitize, and assembly I had the hang of it and found that using my bottle brush with sponge on the end washed each piece wonderfully and I would not need a special cleaning tool. Be careful to mind the small circular piece, which serves as a flap for suction when collecting milk into the bottle. The pump comes with extras in anticipation of that piece getting lost or falling down the drain. I read the instructions before my first assembly but found it to be quite simple and intuitive. I have to say that when I first used this pump I was amazed at how well I was able to express milk.

The stimulation side of the pump allows for quick bursts of suction to simulate the initial sucking of your baby. When milk appears the longer handle of the pump allows for longer and deeper suction to express milk once you have let down. After 6 minutes I had pumped 3 ounces, which was faster than my current electric pumps. There went my preconceived notion about manual pumps, and then I was sold. I found the design of the pump and handle made pumping very easy and comfortable and that the suction was very effective without being too rough on my nipples. This was something I thought I just had to live with while pumping. Harmony Breast Pump proved to me that this did not have to be the case. I used this pump occasionally, in instances when my electric pump needed to charge or I forgot a part of my electric pump. The Harmony Breast Pump was my backup pump and it never disappointed. I could fit all of the parts in a ziplock bag that easily fit in my purse and did not require an extra travel bag. I found the set up and clean up only took a few minutes on either end of pumping and was not a tedious endeavor and made my pumping sessions shorter. Thanks to the Stellar Product Testing Panel for providing me with this manual breast pump; I dont know if this is something that I would have thought to purchase, so I was super excited to try it out. I would definitely recommend this manual breast pump because it makes pumping on the go super easy. I love having this on hand, especially for when I have to make a quick trip out and dont have time to grab all the things for my electric pump. I keep this assembled and ready to go in a bag at all times, so literally all I have to do is grab it and walk out the door, not wondering where Ill be able to pump because its the ease of doing it anywhere. I was pleasantly surprised to see that its more affective expressing breastmilk than my electric pump is. This pump is so easy to use, and just as easy to clean and set up.

I even find it super convenient to use at home when I can't be attached to wires and tubes mom of three. I've been using Medela electric pumps for the past eight years, and this is the first time I use a manual pump for baby number three. All I can say is that I have definitely been missing out. I recently went on a road trip, and this was such a lifesaver. Easy to use, no batteries required and I'm able to get a quick expression just as good as an electric pump. I honestly feel like the suction on a manual pump is much stronger than my electric. I mostly use it when I'm engorged, and I'm too lazy to pull out all the parts of my electric pump.lol. I love using it while watching tv on the couch or while reading in bed. The pump is small enough to pack up in a freezer bag, toss it in the diaper bag and go. The parts come apart easily and you can use the Medela sanitizing bags to clean in the microwave. I absolutely love this pump and wish I would have had one sooner. Thanks to the Stellar Product Testing Panel for providing me with this manual breast pump See more Mmejia1, December 15, 2019 Written by a customer while visiting medelabreastfeedingus.com 0 0 Average Rating 4.0 out of 5 stars Perfect for Travel I received the Harmony Breast Pump from the Stellar Product Testing Panel and I could not be more excited. I really wanted to purchase this manual pump but didn't know how much I would use it to justify spending the money. This has been the best pump, and I wish I had purchased it sooner. I love how easy it breaks a part for compact travel, how easy it is to use and comfortable handle position, and how effectively it worked to remove breastmilk. I carry it everyday with me to work for those few times I need to pump to make it through my work day. I love the stand that comes with it so I have a place to set it up. The harmony breast pump is very simple and easy to use. Its very portable so when you are on the run, its easy to stick in the diaper bag and go.
